

THE ART OF HOSTING AND HARVESTING CONVERSATIONS THAT MATTER

How can we shift the quality of our conversations for a future in which people and planet thrive?

ROELANDS VILLAGE, WESTERN AUSTRALIA | 29 MARCH - 1 APRIL 2020

Everything is changing. Radical shifts in our ecological, social, political, emotional and economic landscapes are required. The long view, the future, is present to us now. We have choices to make. What new ways of being and doing will serve us and our planet?

To imagine and respond to the new world that is emerging we need to learn to work with ourselves and others across difference, to have conversations that generate possibilities for a brighter future.

Our worldviews, our mindsets and the deepest stories we tell about the world can be remade into new shared paths for walking into the uncertain future together.

The Art of Hosting and Harvesting Conversations that Matter (also known as the Art of Participatory Leadership) offers simple and powerful participatory practices, patterns and processes to host generative conversations.

These approaches have been used effectively in diverse contexts worldwide to harness collective wisdom, encourage compassionate leadership, and create better social and environmental outcomes.

We warmly invite you to join this first 3 day introductory training in Western Australia.

Program details

Sun 29 Mar, 5pm to Wed 1 Apr, 4pm
Roelands Village
575 Seven Hills Rd, Roelands WA

Registration

For more information and to register visit www.artofhostingwa.weebly.com

What will we learn, explore and practise?

The quality of our conversations matters. It determines what we pay attention to, how we engage with each other, and where we direct our time, energy and resources.

The Art of Hosting will invite us to consciously create and host spaces for collaborative conversations that generate wise action in our organisations, communities and families.

This training is experiential - you will have opportunities to practise "hosting" various participatory processes and methodologies. The training will support you to host more effective, purposeful meetings, and host groups in complex systems working together to solve their own challenges.

The learning includes:

- Simple and powerful social tools such as Circle, World Cafe, Appreciative Inquiry, Open Space Technology.
- Designing for Wiser Action, storytelling and more.
- Complementary models and frameworks including complexity theory and practice, and new organisational forms.
- Conscious presence and leadership, and working with emergence.
- Real world applications.

Participation fees

Early bird (until 31 Jan) / Full fees (from 1 Feb)

Corporate $1320 / $1540

Full $990 / $1210

Standard $770 / $880

Supported $550 / $660

All fees include GST, tuition and all meals (excluding breakfasts) during the three-day training.

You decide what is fair, what you have capacity to pay, or what is within your training budget. Our aim is to support everyone who wants to attend to be there, regardless of their capacity to pay.

You will learn more about our collaborative approach to the training economy on our website, and you are welcome to contact us if you would like a conversation about fees.

Who is it for?

- Community and not for profit leaders, business leaders, social entrepreneurs, and their teams.
- Next generation leaders and emerging activists.
- Government leaders, policy officers, and program managers.
- Anyone and everyone who wants to explore the power of conscious creativity and collaboration with each other and within their communities, organisations and families.

The team

The training will be hosted by a local and international team of experienced and emerging Art of Hosting practitioners.

We look forward to welcoming you, your curiosity and your contributions.

Contacts

Jane Geltch

(about the training)

jane@purposepartners.com.au

0403 769 863

Mel Geltch

(about the training and fees)

mel@campfire.coop

0400 412 498